Dear John:

Dr. Alvin Young, who serves on the Binghamton State Office Building Expert Panel, has just returned from a visit to Seveso, Italy. While there, a group of Italian scientists concerned with that dioxin problem talked with him about a visit they planned to make to the United States to study some of the problems here.

They will be in Albany on July 18 and 19 and would like to talk with OGS about the clean-up and with our Laboratory about tests, especially about tissue culture screening.

I understand that OGS is willing to meet with them. Please let me know who your contact person will be and I will make further arrangements with him/her.

Sincerely,

Robert H. Huffaker, D.V.M., M.P.H.
